

Your Right to a Second Opinion

Information for patients

? What is a second opinion?

A second opinion means seeking advice from another clinician to review your diagnosis, treatment plan, or medical care. This is your right as a patient.

You have the right to request a second opinion

If you would like further medical advice about your condition or treatment, you can ask for an assessment by another clinician.

→ How can you get a second opinion?

You have two options:

- Option 1: We can arrange for you to be seen by another clinician within our service
- Option 2: You can contact your GP to request a referral to another healthcare service
